AIA Northern Virginia Announces Design Award Recipients for 2022

Tysons, Va. – The Northern Virginia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects (AIA Northern Virginia) announced the winning projects in its annual Design Awards program during a gala held at Capital One Hall. AIA Northern Virginia architect members were recognized with awards for their designs of both built and conceptual/unbuilt work.

This year’s AIA Northern Virginia Design Awards received more than 100 entries. Decided by two distinct jury panels comprised of Philadelphia area architects, the awards were given in seven categories.

Awards were given to architects whose projects include and demonstrate a level of good design principles of the 21st century. There are four different award levels in each category, and all of the awards recognize and celebrate the achievements AIA Northern Virginia members have created in the design of the built environment.

“An AIA Northern Virginia Design Award demonstrates to both clients and the public, the availability of local award-winning firms and individuals dedicated to providing outstanding architectural design and service,” said Roland Lemke, AIA, 2022-2023 Design Award Committee Co-Chair and design principal at CannonDesign in Arlington, Va.

“The design talent and the focus on sustainability of the 2022 submissions were inspiring,” said Daniela Holt Voith, FAIA, principal at Voith & Mactavish Architects, LLP in Philadelphia, Pa. “It was an honor to serve on a jury to review and discuss so many outstanding projects designed by architects from a nearby AIA Chapter.”
